ACTIVITY IN REAL ESTATE.

New Buildings Nearing Completion and Others to be Erected.

NUMBER OF CHOICE LOTS SOLD.

During the past few weeks there has been much activity in real estate. A number of choice building lots have changed hands, the new buildings are nearing completion and a number of citizens have announced their intention of building business houses. Cloverport is certainly enjoying another building boom, which is yet in its infancy, but will see the entire burned district rebuilt in a few years. This is the prediction of one of our most prominent business men. Many will build who would not if Cloverport had not secured new industries this year. As everyone has remarked, "one thing leads to another."

F. T. Heyser will erect two business houses on the part of the Jas. Mooreman lot he bought from Short & Haynes. He will conduct his restaurant and confectionery in one and will rent the other. Judson Combs has spoken for part of the latter building where he will locate his tonorial parlors. He contemplates putting in a number of bath rooms, which will be rented to the public.

Dr. F. L. Lightfoot's new office building will consist of four rooms and be a model of convenience. The building will be a brick structure and will have a porch on one side extending the length of the building. Dr. Lightfoot will reserve part of the building for his own use.

It is now almost a certainty that Cloverport will have a new hotel to be built by a local party. If all the arrangements now under consideration can be made the hotel will be a certainty. Further particulars will be given when every arrangement is completed.

Conrad Sippel bought the Wm. Beavin lot, frontage twenty-two feet, on the north side of Main street. The lot is the second one on the east side of Fred May's butcher shop. Mr. Sippel bought it at Commissioner's sale and contemplates building a shoe shop for his own use.

F. T. Heyser's new residence on First street and the two residences on Main street, built by the Cloverport Real Estate and Improvement Company, are nearing completion. F. D. Plank has bought the company's residence on the east side of the Hamilton lot. He will complete it himself.

The Cloverport Real Estate and Improvement Company is now waiting for a deed to the Reid lot east of Pate & Oelze's grainary and are contemplating the purchase of five acres of the Breckenridge Canal Coal Company's late addition to the city of Cloverport. This land will make excellent building lots both on account of location and drainage.

NEED MORE HANDS NOW.

More Tomatoes Delivered at Cannery and Preparations Made for Big Run.

The Polk Packing Company's cannery was in operation several days last week and several thousand cans of tomatoes were put up. The rain caused the delivery of the tomatoes to be a little slow and, although only about half a score of hands were employed, it was sufficient to handle what tomatoes were delivered. During the last days last week when the cannery was not in operation, preparations were made for a big run this week. Thousands of cans were placed in the factory last week and, as the delivery of the tomatoes is improving, a larger number of hands will be employed this week. The capacity of the factory is 30,000 cans per day and the scarcity of the tomatoes just at present prevents these many from being canned. The rain of four or five weeks ago damaged the crop and caused a part of it to rot.

The piping in the well at the cannery has been burst and Styles & Morgan are drilling another well.

BOTH LABORED FOR THE GOOD.

Mrs. Martha E. Varble Of Owensboro Passes Away In This City.

MRS. NANCY J. PULLIAM DEAD.

Mrs. Martha E. Varble died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Stevens, of this city, at 11 o'clock Sunday morning of dropsy, superinduced by Bright's disease. The funeral was held from the family residence at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and the interment was in the Cloverport cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. J. F. Vines, of the Baptist church, of this city in the presence of relatives and friends of the deceased in this city and from Owensboro and other points.

Mrs. Varble was a widow, her husband, J. C. Varble, having died about twenty years ago. She was born in Oldham county in 1847 but has resided in Owensboro during the greater part of her life. About six months ago she came to this city for her health, and has since resided with Mr. and Mrs. Stevens.

The following children are the nearest relatives of Mrs. Varble: Mrs. J. O. Stevens, of this city; Walter and Clay Varble, of Owensboro; Pink Varble and Mrs. Robt. Babcock, of Louisville.

Mrs. Varble also leaves three half sisters. They are Mrs. David Adams and Mrs. D. Mercer, of Owensboro, and Mrs. Hooker, of Pateville.

Mrs. Varble had been in failing health for several years. She had not been bed-fast but a part of the time. Thursday evening she became much worse and was not able to speak. She knew that her death was near and was prepared.

At the age of fifteen Mrs. Varble was united with the Third Baptist church at Owensboro. She was a devoted Christian and a most excellent woman. She bore her illness with great patience and was loved by all who knew her.

Summons Was Sudden.

Hartshorn, Ky., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Mrs. Nancy J. Pulliam, widow of Joseph R. Pulliam, died at her home near this place very suddenly, on Tuesday morning, Aug. 23. Heart trouble was the cause though she had been in her usual health, apparently.

The funeral services were held at the M. E. church, South, the pastor, Rev. W. F. Hogard, conducting the services. The interment was in the Hartshorn cemetery. The deceased leaves two sons, James, of this place, and John, of St. Louis, Mo., to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Pulliam was a devoted Christian woman and a member for many years of the M. E. church, South, at this place. Her whole life was spent in faithful devotion to duty and all her influence was always on the side of the right.

One of the Best Meetings.

Irrington, Ky., Sept. 1.—(Special.) The ladies' Mission Society, of the Elizabethtown District, was in session here Saturday and Sunday.

The meeting was well attended and was the best one held for sometime. More delegates and societies were represented than at any former meeting. Mrs. Bettie Whitehead, that very efficient officer, was present and that in itself was enough to make the meeting good. Miss Tula Daniels was just in her element in the missionary work, and a very rare treat was enjoyed when Dr. Julia Donahue, was on the platform. The meetings closed Sunday evening by a sermon from Rev. Russell, of Big Spring.

A Purgative Pleasure.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness, or constipation you know what a purgative pleasure is. These pleasant little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. They do not gripe, sicken or weaken but give tone and strength to the tissues and organs involved. W. H. Howell, of Houston, Tex., says: "I have tried Little Early Risers for constipation, sick headache, etc., sold by All Druggists."

SECURE NEW INDUSTRY.

Citizens of Cloverport Become Stockholders in Machine Shops and Foundry That Will Locate Here.

WILL BE A BIG THING FOR THE TOWN.

Cloverport has secured another new industry in the way of a machine shops and foundry. The affair will be strictly local, as it will be owned and managed by local parties. It will be capitalized and incorporated and will probably be known as the Christian Machine Shops and Foundry. Its name, however, will be decided upon later by the stockholders.

The new concern will repair all kinds of machinery and manufacture wire goods. Repairs on farming and household implements and machinery used in all kinds of manufacturing plants will be made here and work formerly done in St. Louis, Owensboro and Louisville for parties and firms in this part of the State, will be done here. This will be a big saving for those who have had the work done and at the same time will bring money into the town. The L. H. & St. L. Railroad Company has already promised the plant all the work that it has previously sent to St. Louis and Louisville. As the Henderson Route shops are located here the work done by the foundry for the shops can be secured at less expense and in less time than formerly. The railroad shops, in the last few years, has had all its castings made in outside cities. This item, alone, will be a big thing for the new foundry.

Mr. Madison L. Christian, of Louisville, owns sixty shares in the new concern and the remaining sixty are owned by local parties. Mr. Christian was born in this city and will move back here with his family. He is a son of Dr. Christian, a former Cloverport citizen, who, in the fifties, conducted one of the most enterprising revivals ever held in this part of the State. Mr. Christian is a man of enterprise and high principles. Moreover, he is a good business man and an experienced machinist. He has been in the business for years and is conversant with it in every department. He will make an excellent citizen and is welcomed to Cloverport. Mr. Christian's love for his old home and the enterprise and business foresight of the citizens of Cloverport have led to this city securing the machine shops and foundry. The citizens of Franklin, O., have tried to induce Mr. Christian to locate in that city. It is a beautiful place, as Mr. Christian says, but he is a Kentuckian and old Kentucky is the best place on earth for him. He was here last month to confer with the citizens in regard to the matter of locating a machine shops and foundry here. A public meeting was held and much enthusiasm shown. As all realized the benefit that Cloverport would derive from such an industry. Stock was liberally subscribed by the citizens and Mr. Christian announced that he would locate here as soon as all necessary arrangements could be made.

The following letter, in part, was received from Mr. Christian by Marion Weatherholt last week:

Franklin, O., Aug. 27, 1903.

M. Weatherholt, Esq., Dear Sir:—I closed last here yesterday for machinery and building. 30 x 60 foot frame, in good condition. I took the building to get all the machinery and got more machinery than I had hoped for. The building will make a good Younger building. At present I am wrecking it and will ship it the fore part of next week.

Please rent a good house of seven or eight rooms for me and I will order furniture shipped at once.

Hoping to see you soon and to be a citizen of Cloverport, I am, Yours truly,

Madison L. Christian.

Mr. Christian has two sons who are machinists and will work in the foundry. His brother, Mr. Noble Christian, who is an evangelist, may move to this city with his family also.

The location for the machine shops and foundry has not been determined upon yet. The industry will be operated on a small plan at first but the patronage it is expected to receive will steadily increase and then the plant will have to be enlarged and more labor employed. The management hopes to have it in operation within the next sixty days.

HAVE BOOKED BIG ORDERS.

Output of Roofing Tile Factory Will Have to be Increased to Meet Demand.

The starting up of the Murray Roofing Tile Co.'s factory is still prevented by the delayed shipment of some of the necessary machinery from Buynors. O. They had up steam last week to test the machinery. All of it is in very good order except the shafting which will need some repairing. It is probable that the factory will not be in operation before the last of this month. The Company has had to cancel three big orders for tiling as it could not fill them in time. One of the orders was from Birmingham, Ala. While the delay in starting up the factory has caused this loss to the company, the big orders received for the product have shown that the demand from all parts of the country will be such, that, when the factory is in operation, the output will have to be great to meet it. The factory will employ thirty or forty men this fall but next year the pay-roll will have to be increased as the demand for the product is becoming greater every year.

Is Patton Brick Yard if Wages of Employees Are Not Paid After Judgment.

TRIAL IS SET FOR MONDAY.

The trial of the suits brought against the Perfect Comstitution Company of America and the Central Clay Product Company by twenty-nine former employees of the Patton brick yard, for wages for labor performed, is set for next Monday before Police Judge Willis in the city court. If judgment against the two companies named is secured by the plaintiffs, and the claims are not paid, an execution will be served and the Patton brick yard will be sold in order to secure the amounts for which the companies named are liable.

As yet the defendants have not filed an answer to the suits, but this can be done by motion on the day of the trial.

The following is a list of the claims and the claimants:

Jack Weatherholt, $32.64; David Swearns, Jr., $20; H. L. Stader, $34.50; Sam Deane, $5; James Ricketts, $2; Court Babbage, Jr., $2; Marvie Green, $3.62; John R. Murray, of this city, and Gas Brown, of Hardinsburg, attorneys for the plaintiffs, are confident of winning their cases. The outcome of the trial is causing much speculation and the court room will be packed next Monday to hear the arguments in the cases.

The Genuine vs. Counterfeits.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when one compares the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by All Druggists.

CHAPTER XXIV.
OFF TO THE DUNGEON.

THE tableau lasted but a moment. Gabriel advanced a few steps, his eyes gleaming with jealousy and triumph. Before him stood the prince, seated and red-handed. Through her dazed brain struggled the conviction that he could never escape. Through his ran the miserable realization that he had ruined her forever. Gabriel of all men! "I arrive inopportunely," he said harshly, the veins standing out on his neck, and the eyes that he had raised were not aware that you expected two, your highness." There was no mistaking his meaning. He viciously sought to convey the impression that he was there by appointment, a clandestine visitor in her apartments at midnight. "What do you mean by coming to my apartment at this hour?" she stammered, trying to rescue dignity from the chaos of emotions. Lorry was standing slightly to the right and several feet behind her. He understood the prince and quickly sought to interpose with the hope that he might shield her from the sting.

"She did not expect me, sir," he said, and a menacing gleam came to his eyes. His pistol was in his hand. Gabriel saw it, but the starting princess did not. She could not take her eyes from the face of the intruder. "Now, may I ask you why you are here?"

Gabriel's wit saved him from death. He said that he could not pursue the course he had begun, for there was murder in the American's eye. Like a fox, he swerved and, with a servile promise of submission in his glance, said:

"I thought you were here, my fine fellow, and I came to satisfy myself. Now, sir, may I ask why you are here?" His dazed eyes were glassy with the unalleviated he was subsiding.

"I am here as a prisoner," said Lorry loudly. Gabriel landed derisively. "And how often have you come here in this manner as a prisoner? Midnight and alone in the apartments of the princess, the guest of a duke? A prisoner, eh? Ha, what a prison!"

"Stop!" cried Lorry, white to the lips. The princess was beginning to understand. Her eyes grew wide with horror, her figure straightened imperiously and the white in her cheeks gave way to the red of insulted virtue.

"I see it all! You have not been out of this castle since you left the prison. A pretty scheme! You could not marry him, could you, eh? He is not a prince! His eyes grew wide with horror and hide him where no one would dare to think of looking for him—in your apartments!"

With a start of rage Lorry sprang upon him, cutting short the sentence that would have gone through her like the keenest knife blade.

"Liar! Dog! I'll kill you for that!" he cried, but before he could clutch the prince's throat Yette had frantically seized his arm.

"Not that she shrieked. 'Do not kill him! There must be no murder here!'"

He reluctantly buried Gabriel from him, the prince turned back to his knees in the effort to keep from falling. She had saved her maligned's life, but courage deserted her with the act. Helplessly she looked into the blazing eyes of her lover and fathered:

"I—I do not know what to say or do. My brain is bursting!"

"Courage, courage!" he whispered gently.

"You shall pay for this," shrieked Gabriel. "If you are not a prisoner you shall be. There'll be scandal enough in Grimsbury tomorrow to start a volcano of wrath from the royal tombs where lie her fathers. I'll see that you are a prisoner!" He started for the door, but Lorry's pistol was leveled at his head.

"If you move, I'll kill you!"

"The world will understand how and why I tell you your hand and in this room. Shoot!" he cried triumphantly. Lorry's hand trembled, and his eyes filled with the tears of impotent rage. The prince held the higher card.

A face suddenly appeared at the door, which had been stealthily opened from without. Captain Quinox glided into the room behind the prince and gently closed the door, unnoticed by the glowering.

"A prisoner?" sneered Gabriel. "Where is your captor, pray?"

"Here!" answered a voice at his back. The prince wheeled and found himself looking at the stalwart form of the captain of the guard. "I am surely privileged to speak now, your highness," he went on, addressing the princess significantly.

"How came you here?" gasped Gabriel.

"I brought my prisoner here. Where should I be if not here to guard him?"

"When—when did you enter this?"

"I arrived inopportunely," he said harshly, the veins standing out on his neck, and the eyes that he had raised were not aware that you expected two, your highness."

ROOM:

"An hour ago."

"You were not here when I came?"

"I have been standing on this spot for an hour. You have been very much excited. I'll agree, but it is strange you did not see me," lied Quinox.

Gabriel looked about helplessly, nonplused.

"You were here when I came in?" he asked wonderingly.

"The captain Quinox brought the prisoner to me an hour ago," she said mechanically.

"It is a lie!" cried Gabriel. "He was not here when I entered!"

The captain of the guard laid a heavy hand on the shoulder of the prince and said threateningly:

"I was here, and I am here. Have a care how you speak. Were I to do right I should shoot you like a dog. You came like a thief, you insult the ruler of the land. I have borne it all because you are a prince, but have a care—have a care. I may forget myself and pour out your black heart with these words. One word from her royal highness will be your death warrant."

He looked inquiringly at the princess as if anxious to put the dangerous witness where he could tell no tales. She shook her head, but did not speak. Lorry realized that the time had come for him to assert himself. Assuming a distressed air, he bowed his head and said dejectedly:

"My pleading has been in vain, then your highness. I have sworn to you that I am innocent of this murder, and you have said I shall have a fair trial. That is all you can offer?"

"I see it all," said shrilly, her mind gradually grasping his meaning. "You will not punish the poor people who secured me in their house for weeks, for they are convinced of my innocence. Your captain here, who found me in their house tonight, can also speak well of them. I have only this request to make in regard to what service I may have given you. Forgive the old people who befriended me. I am ready to go to the tower at once, your highness."

Gabriel heard this speech with a skeptical smile on his face.

"I am no fool," he said simply. "Captain Quinox is strictly turning to Quinox. If he is your prisoner, why do you permit him to retain his revolver?"

The conspirators were taken by surprise, but Lorry had found time to whisper. "It is folly, your highness, to allow this gentleman and conquering prince to cross examine you. I am a prisoner, and that is the end of it. What odds is it to the Prince of Dawsburgh how and where I was caught or why your officer brought me to you?"

"You were ordered from my house once today, yet you came again like a conqueror. I should not spare you. You deserve to lose your life for the actions tonight. Captain Quinox will kill you if I ask you to end his wretched life? Yette's eyes were blazing with wrath, beneath which he could be right in end silence.

"Willingly—willingly!" cried Quinox. "Now, your highness? Twice better in the hall!"

"For God's sake, do not murder me! Let me go!" cried the prince.

"I do not mean that you should kill him now, Quinox, but I instruct you to do so if he puts foot inside these walls again. Do you understand?"

"Yes, your highness."

"Then you will place this prisoner in the castle dungeon until tomorrow morning, when he is to be taken to the tower. Prince Gabriel may accompany you to the dungeon cell if he likes, after which you will escort him to the gates. If he enters them again, you are to kill him. Take them both away!"

"Your highness, I must ask you to write a pardon for the good people in whose house the prisoner was found," suggested Quinox, shrewdly seeing a chance for communication unsuspected by the prince.

"A moment, your highness," said the prince, who had recovered himself cleverly. "I appreciate your position. I have made a serious charge, and I now have a fair proposition to suggest to you. If this man is not produced to-morrow morning, I take it and grant that I am a liberty to tell all that has happened in this room tonight. If he is produced, I shall kneel and beg your pardon."

The princess turned paler than ever and knew not how she kept from falling to the floor. There was a long silence following Gabriel's unexpected but fair suggestion.

"That is very fair, your highness," said Lorry. "There is no reason why I should not be a prisoner myself. I don't see how I can hope to escape the inevitable. Your dungeon is strong, and I have given my word of honor to the captain Quinox that I shall not put the effort to evade the law."

"I agree," murmured the princess.

"To Bolmar," she repeated.
"Your highness, the pardon for the poor old people," reminded Quinox.

"For God's sake, do not murder me!" she glided to the desk, stunned, bewildered. It seemed as though death were upon her. Quinox followed and bent near her ear. "It is not to alarm me," he whispered. "No one knows of Mr. Lorry's presence here save the prince, and if he dares to accuse you before Bolmar our people will tear him to pieces. No one will believe him."

"You—you can save him, then?" she gasped joyously.

"I'll let him permit me to do so. Write to him what you will, your highness, and he shall have the message. Be brave, and all will go well. Write quickly. This is supposed to be the pardon."

She wrote feverishly, a thousand thoughts arising for every one that she was able to transfer to the paper. When she had finished the hope inspired scroll, she arose and with a gracious smile handed to the waiting captain the pardon for those who had secured her in her house.

"I grant forgiveness to them gladly," she said.

"I thank you," said Lorry, bowing low.

"Mr. Lorry, I regret the difficulty in which you find yourself. It was on my account, too, I am told. Be you guilty or innocent, your highness, I must ask you to write a pardon for the good people in whose house the prisoner was found," suggested Quinox, shrewdly seeing a chance for communication unsuspected by the prince.

"A moment, your highness," said the prince, who had recovered himself cleverly. "I appreciate your position. I have made a serious charge, and I now have a fair proposition to suggest to you. If this man is not produced to-morrow morning, I take it and grant that I am a liberty to tell all that has happened in this room tonight. If he is produced, I shall kneel and beg your pardon."

The princess turned paler than ever and knew not how she kept from falling to the floor. There was a long silence following Gabriel's unexpected but fair suggestion.

"That is very fair, your highness," said Lorry. "There is no reason why I should not be a prisoner myself. I don't see how I can hope to escape the inevitable. Your dungeon is strong, and I have given my word of honor to the captain Quinox that I shall not put the effort to evade the law."

"I agree," murmured the princess.

question that had been troubling him for many minutes.
"I am afraid I have—ah—misjudged here," muttered Gabriel, now convinced that he had committed himself irretrievably.

"You will find she has not misjudged you," said the prisoner grimly. "Can't I have a candle in here, captain?"

"You may keep this lantern," said Quinox, stepping inside the narrow cell. As he placed the lantern on the floor he whispered: "I'll return in an hour. Read this!" Lorry's hand closed over the bit of perfumed paper.

The prince was now inside the cell, peering about curiously, even thronously. "By the way, your highness, how would you enjoy living in a hole like this all your life?"

"Horrible!" said Gabriel, shuddering like a leaf.

"Then take my advice—don't commit any murders. Hire some one else."

The two men eyed each other continually for a moment or two. Then the prince looked out of the cell, a mad desire to fly from some dreadful, unseen horror coming over him.

Quinox locked the door, and striking a match, bade his highness precede him up the stone steps.

In the cell the prisoner read and re-read the incoherent message from Yette.

It is the only way, Quinox will assist you as you see tonight. Go, I implore you, as you love me, go. Your life is more than all to me. Gabriel's story will not be entered, and he can have no proof. He will be torn to pieces. Quinox says, do not think of me, but save yourself. I would lose everything to save you.

He smiled sadly as he burned the "pardon." The concluding sentences swept away the last thought he might have had of the hope he had to bear the consequences. "Do not think of me, but save yourself. I would lose everything to save you." He leaned against the wall and shook his head slowly, the smile still on his lips.

APPLE CROP LIGHT.

Drouths and Insects the Cause—Corn Tobacco and Sweet Potatoes Doing Well.

The following is the weekly crop report issued last week:

Corn is in fine condition in western and southern counties many early fields are matured. If there are timely rains for the maturing of late fields, the crop ought to equal the average. Tobacco has done well, it is better than was expected five or six weeks ago. Cutting is in progress in the Western section.

Pastures are good except where drouth prevails. A fair crop of millet is being cut.

Sweet potatoes are doing well; late gardens, turnips and the second crop of potatoes need rain.

Apples are rather scarce; drouth, windstorms and insects have caused them to fall from the trees to such an extent that there is hardly a half crop left.

This is especially true in the principal apple-growing districts. Plowing has been retarded by the dry weather; other farm work is well up.

BROKE THEIR PROMISE.

Two Little Derby Boys a Disobey Their Mother and are Drowned in the Ohio.

Tell City, Ind., Aug. 28.—The two sons of Mrs. Jacob Davis, living near Derby, this county, were drowned in the Ohio river about 11 o'clock yesterday morning while swimming. Their bodies have not been recovered.

The mother of the boys went to Leopold to attend a picnic and before she left she made the little fellows promise her they would not go near the river. They failed to keep their promise, however, and shortly after her departure they went to the river to go swimming in company with their older brother.

They got in water over their heads and were drowned before the brother could rescue them. The mother is almost prostrated over the death of her boys.

Hole in the Lungs.

There are thousands of men and women, as well as ever, with holes in their lungs; consumption stopped. Consumption stopped is consumption cured. What does it?

Some change in the way of life and Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

With the emulsion, give some attention to circumstances change from a dark damp close room to a sunny dry airy one; from city to country; from hard to an easy life; indoors to out.

A hole in the lungs once healed is no weak, too-tight waist or waistcoat. Take the emulsion, and give it a chance to heal the wound.

Gaming in Canneton Saloons.

Tell City, Ind., Aug. 28.—The grand jury was in session for about two weeks at Canneton, and returned thirty-four indictments. One was against legless Wildman Nulton for murder. Ten saloonkeepers of this city were indicted for permitting gaming in their saloons. Some paid the fine.

Allen Not Guilty.

The jury in the trial of E. O. Allen, charged with taking a bundle of clothing from the Owensboro Woolen Company's store the night of the fire in April, rendered a verdict of not guilty. It was thought that Allen had something to do with the burning of the pants factory but this was not proven.

THE "KID GLOVE" CLASS.

By Mrs. Hattie B. Grinnell.

It is amusing to read of the "kid glove" party in this land of ours. It is equally as amusing to hear people talk against a man in politics because he has money. One would think we were in feudal England, which is dying a slow death even in the government of Great Britain. Our land is the only land where caste never has had a foothold. Freedom of effort is the go here. And freedom in America, as we know it, is freedom of opportunity and that freedom gives each and every man to choose his calling, to work out his own destiny and it is only restricted by the limits of his ability. Caste conventions do not fetter him. Are you a gentleman's son? Is never asked in this land as in England, but what are your qualifications, what is your ability, your experience. Our government's training school is a democratic one and all Americans, no matter how low their station in life, are welcomed at Annapolis or West Point but it is not the case at Oxford or Cambridge across the water. The lowly born are not wanted there, for they are intended only for the training of British gentlemen. Our institutions train thinkers and useful citizens from any station and strive to raise them to a higher plan of living. America is the only land where rail-splitters and mule drivers may become presidents. Shop clerks here can become cabinet ministers, day laborers rise often times to heads of railways and machinists to directors of vast industries. But we should all believe every man should earn his living and, like President Roosevelt said, "We have but little room for the idle". No willfully idle man has any place in a sane, healthy, vigorous community. There is something for everyone to do and our American idea is that all honest work is noble work and distinction can be won in the work shop as well as in the study.

We honor the mechanic as we do the banker if he achieves things. The public schools in England are not public schools at all in the American sense. Popular education enters deeply into our national life and we advocate educating the whole people. The most lowly born child is as welcome and showed the same attention as the highest official's child. Every young man or woman who strives to elevate himself or herself, will find a helping hand. Then away with such absurd ideas of a "kid glove" class. Call it envy or prejudice, which should have no place in an American born man or woman's breast. "Masses," "classes," the bugle note of '96—fudge! "Masses" can be "classes" in this land of ours and we honor any man who pushes to the front, no matter if his hands are horny from labor, if his heart is true and "it is better to have tried and failed than never to have tried at all."

INTERESTING EXHIBIT NOTES.

Tusks of Prehistoric Monster, and 300-Pound Meteor Among Kentucky Exhibits.

One of Morgan's men was J. M. Ledbetter, of Littlefield. He has offered the Association for use at the World's Fair a skeleton used by his interlopers. He says he also has a flint rock, 140 years old, an Indian pipe and other relics.

A collection of 510 snakes, of all kinds and sizes, will be exhibited at the exposition by John Vivion, who lives at the foot of Pilot Knob in Powell county.

Editor O. E. Hurst, of Millersburg, writes the Exposition Association that a collection of bones and relics of a prehistoric monster has been found at Lower Blue Lick Springs that is worthy a place at the St. Louis Exposition. He thinks it a collection that can not be equaled in the world. One tusk of the monster, measures eight feet in length.

Thos. E. Pergam, of Bath county, has a 300-pound meteor, the largest of several fragments that fell to the earth on Nov. 15, 1902, which he will send to the World's Fair.

The Kentucky Exhibit Association contemplates paying the entire expense of all live stock sent from the State to the World's Fair for exhibition purposes. The Exposition officials have offered $250,000 in premiums. The Association may give in addition a medal to every Kentucky prize winner.

Mr. Chas. E. Braswell, writes from Edgelyville that he has a medal awarded by the St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association in 1870 to Hillman Bros. & Sons for best bar of iron, which he is ready to turn over to the Exhibit Association for Kentucky's display in the mines and Metallurgy Building at the exposition.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK and POULTRY MEDICINE

Stock and poultry have few troubles which are not bowel and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is a bowel and liver remedy for stock. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their food. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pint air-tight can of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine. If yours does not, send 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

ROCHESTER, GA., Jan. 30, 1902. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is best I ever tried. Our stock was looking bad when you sent me the medicine and now they are getting so fine. They are looking 30 per cent better. S. P. BROCKINGTON.

AN ADDRESS TO VOTERS OF KENTUCKY

Issued by State Committee — on — CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

Gentlemen: At a Commercial Convention of the State of Kentucky, held in the city of Louisville on the 23, 3d and 4th days of June, 1903, the undersigned were appointed a committee for the purpose of bringing the amendment to the constitution of the state which is to be voted upon at the November election this year, to the attention of voters of all parties in the state, and obtain for it the necessary number of votes to secure its adoption.

The amendment is purely a non-partisan measure, vitally affecting the interests of all citizens of the state, no matter what their party affiliations or occupations may be, or where their places of residence are situated. The beneficial effects which will follow the adoption of the amendment are so vast that they can hardly be estimated. The evil that will result, if by any chance the amendment should fail of adoption, will be disastrous in the extreme to the best interests of the state.

The adoption of the amendment will not change in the least the present system of taxation in Kentucky for state and county purposes, as it applies only to taxes levied by cities and towns for their own local purposes. The manufacturers, merchants and financial institutions in the cities and towns of our state are now tremendously handicapped in competing with those in other states by the provision of our state constitution which requires the same ad valorem taxes to be levied on all personal property by cities and towns, for their local purposes, as is levied by them on real estate within their boundaries.

This provision does not exist in other states in which the competitors of our manufacturers, merchants and financial institutions are located, so that our people in these lines of business are at a great disadvantage in competing with those of other states, and the result is that our existing industries do not grow as they should, and new industries are not established in our state in as large number and importance as in other states which do not possess anything like our natural advantages, but in which taxation is not nearly so burdensome and onerous as in Kentucky.

The provision of our constitution which the amendment after its adoption, will cure, also operates to drive capital from our midst, and compel that which remains with us to charge us higher interest rates when we borrow money than we would have to pay if money used in banking and financial operations was not taxed so exorbitantly for municipal purposes. Farmers and country merchants of Kentucky, don't make the mistake of thinking the adoption of this amendment of the constitution will not benefitally affect you.

If you want existing factories in our towns and cities to grow, so as to give employment to more men; if you want new industries to be established, employing still more men; if you want more consumers for your farm products and more buyers at your counters; if you want lower interest rates when you borrow money; if you want to lessen your state and county taxes; in a word, if you want as much prosperity throughout the length and breadth of our grand old commonwealth as prevails in other states, then vote for the amendment, and get your neighbors to vote for it.

Every existing factory enlarged, and every new factory brought into Kentucky through this amendment to our constitution, means

Lower State and County Taxes, for all the property thus brought in will go to swell the assessments for state and county purposes, which will enable the rate to be reduced.

Let the amendment be adopted by an overwhelming vote in its favor.

BOW HEALTH IS GAINED

The story of a great deal of the unhappiness of women is a story of lost health. Women wonder how it is that little by little the form loses plumpness, the cheeks grow hollow and allow, and they feel tired and weak. Now industries are in a large proportion of cases when women are weak, run-down and falling off in flesh and blood, the root of the trouble can be traced to womanly diseases which undermine the general health. The proof of it is that women who have been cured of painful womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have recovered their general health, gained in flesh and in appearance.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which sap the general health. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I suffered for three years with ovarian trouble," writes Mrs. Anna Quinn (Treasurer Woman's Athletic Club), of St. Ignace, St. Milwaukee, Wis. "The treatment I took did not do me a particle of good, until a good neighbor told me of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and advised me to give it a trial. The first week I saw some result, and it was my last step toward recovery. In nine weeks I was a different woman; my bowels which had been badly made firm, complexion clear and my eyes bright. It was simply an indication of the great change within from pain and suffering to health and happiness."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

THE CONVICTION OF

CALEB POWERS.

The military court by whom Mrs. Suratt was condemned to be executed for the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, and the Secretary of War who approved that sentence and the president who had it carried out stand condemned at the bar of the world and of posterity as the authors of a judicial murder. If Caleb Powers is hanged this will be the verdict and judgment of the world on those who fabricated the perjured testimony, who suborned the perjurers partly by story and partly by promises of immunity and threats of punishment, on those who delivered the testimony and on the tribunals before whom he was tried and by whom he was condemned. The unreasoning prejudice of excited political bias justifying its verdict by pretended credence in perjured testimony will not control that ultimate verdict to influence that settled judgment.

Caleb Powers committed grave and reprehensible mistakes: it was a grave mistake to induce the body of evidence to come to Frankfort—but it was not criminal and it was not intended to commit murder. He was intemperate in speech—but so were many thousands of all parties. His acceptance of the pardon and his attempted escape in disguise and with an escort were extremely ill-advised; but neither was criminal, and the unrelenting, implacable and unscrupulous prosecution that he foresaw has proven that his judgment for the course he pursued would pursue was correct. The testimony concerning these mistakes has been most adroitly and most unscrupulously woven with the perjury of an infamous set of perjurers under the guidance of partisan courts have aroused justified conviction.

Truth is often lagged in divesting her fair limbs of the clothing of falsehood, but she does at last appear in her own noble and convincing majesty, and then those who have been deceived will be objects of pity—those who deceived, objects of execration.

Powers was guilty of bringing the mountain men to Frankfort: there was no causal connection between this and the assassination of Goebel. We believe he was innocent of complicity in that crime; but his connection with the one act has been used as a pretense for his conviction of the crime. To whom the rewards will be paid is not yet known: they have been as well earned as were the historic thirty pieces of silver.

On the floor of the house of Representatives by a single sentence Gen. Butler destroyed the public career and drove into painful exile an eloquent and much applauded counsel and politician, Gen. Bingham. "I decline to yield to him who compassed the murder of an innocent woman." It may be that in the remote future in the face of some ambitious participant in the prosecution of Caleb Powers a similar retort will be flung.—Morning Herald, Lexington, Ky.

Mr. L. D. Addison is going to add a story to his residence and finish it up in colonial style, with a large veranda extending in front and half way around the old building. The improvements will add much to its appearance and make a lovely home. The work will begin at once and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. are to be congratulated. There is nothing so enjoyable as a good, comfortable home.

If you don't plant potatoes you can't expect to harvest them—if you don't advertise you will never get any returns. Walter Oelze is getting returns from his advertising every day. He has sold in the last week five zone phones. He lays it all to advertising. He uses the columns of the News freely.

The Powers verdict was so appalling to everybody that it struck them dumb. Nothing is being said about it. It is scarcely ever mentioned on the streets of this town. If Powers is innocent it is an awful, awful thing.

Making little sprigs of advertising is like trying to dispel a fog with a fan. If you wish to succeed you just keep it up.

Mr. Marion Polk, of Tobinsport, brought over a very fine sample of seedling peaches raised on his place. They are ahead of any California fruit we ever saw, and of much finer flavor. They would make a fine exhibit for the World's Fair.

Mr. Clarence Wheeler's residence just over the river from Addison's is a lovely, well-kept home. Beautifully situated on a high point overlooking the Ohio with trees and shrubs and flowers all beautifully kept, makes it an ideal spot and a home to be proud of.

Alf Rohards, of Powers Station, was here yesterday showing our clay-workers a fine specimen of fire clay which he is mining on his place near Powers. Alf tells us he is married, has a good wife, is prosperous, healthy and happy, all of which he looks to be.

The tomatoes that are being delivered to the canning factory are of superior quality, fine size and uniform. The company is well pleased with the product and are making, they say, an extraordinary run for a new plant. Cloverport is very proud of its canning factory.

BARBECUE A BIG SUCCESS.

Everybody that attended the big barbecue at Irvington Friday was pleased with everything except the weather. The barbecue was given by Bewleyville Lodge No. 238 F. & A. M., to celebrate the fifth anniversary of its existence and the members and friends of the lodge, assisted by the Masons and good citizens of Irvington and neighboring towns, did things up in great style and made the day a most enjoyable one for everybody who was present. The Masons had widely advertised the affair and did not disappoint by not having the attractions they had advertised. They had worked hard for its success and were rewarded for their efforts by taking in a big sum of money and having between one and two thousand people enjoy the day with them. All the receipts went to the Old Masons Home, the people who attended the barbecue went away wishing the lodge could have a semi-centennial every year, and the Masons returned to their homes in the beautiful little town of Bewleyville pleased with the success that had crowned their efforts.

The Cannelton Commercial Club band furnished excellent music for the big crowds and running, sack, potato and wheelbarrow races and the climbing of a soaped pole furnished them with amusement. Among other attractions was the petrified Indian woman and papoose, in charge of Dave Henry. The woman is about six feet tall and the papoose is clinging to her breast. This curiosity is in a good state of preservation and has been in the Irvington neighborhood a number of years.

NOTES.

The women took an active part and did good work.

Brandenburg, Hardinsburg and Cloverport were well represented.

It was awful hot.

D. C. Heron worked for a week, night and day, and the success of the barbecue is due largely to his efforts and untiring work.

Mr. L. D. Addison took an active part and made the buggy go. He is still horse from his much talking.

The good women who had charge of the ice cream stand and who did faithful and untiring work were: Mesdames Wimp, Lewis, Heron, Moreman, Chamberlain and White and Miss Little McCholton. Rev. J. T. Lewis looked after the finances.

Billy Ditto and Henry Head, out-of-towners, took an active part and did excellent work.

Walter Oelze, the hustling musical man, of Cloverport, was on the ground with his zophone and furnished an excellent entertainment for the music loving public.

Irvington knows how to do things, too.

Cloverport had a good representation.

Charlie Skillman was about the happiest man on the grounds. He captured the buggy.

The Henderson Route did the handsome thing, as she always does, in giving a low rate.

Bob McElotthan superintended the cooking of the meats with Bled Walker, and Jake Woodchick, of Cloverport, as chief cooks. The cooking and the meats were simply splendid. Ye gods! what meat and how we did eat!

Do You Enjoy What You Eat?

You can eat whatever and whenever you like if you take Kodol. By the use of this remedy disordered digestion and diseased stomachs are so completely restored to health, and the full performance of their functions naturally, that such foods as would be to one a double-broiled roast are eaten without even a "rumbling" and with a positive pleasure and enjoyment. And what is more—these foods are assimilated and transformed into the kind of nutriment that is appropriated by the blood and tissues. Kodol is the only digester or combination of digestants that will digest all classes of food. In addition to this fact, it contains, in assimilative form, the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all disorders arising therefrom.

Each and every entry in this contest must be over forty-five years of age. No other conditions are imposed and the place of residence is not restricted. The prizes will be attractive and worth contesting for. The first prize will probably be $25 in cash. The other prizes will range as second, third and fourth, but these will be arranged later.

Several have signified their intention of entering the contest. Among them are Messrs. Price Graham, Chas. Furrow, John Dean, Thos. Eriksen, Robt. Lewis, and Robt. Mattingly.

The names of those desiring to enter the contest should be sent at once to Walter B. Oelze, so that all the plans can be arranged at the earliest possible date. It costs nothing to enter. The contest on arrangements is composed of the following gentlemen: Henry Lewis, Wallace Lishen and W. B. Oelze. The A. O. U. W.'s have been planning an old fiddlers' contest for some time. In point of numbers and activity the local lodge is the strongest in the county and will have no arrangements undone which will contribute to make the contest an enjoyable and successful event.

OUR TOTAL POPULATION.

Number 84,233,069.

From the Hon. W. B. Merriam's "Noteworthy Results for the Twelfth Census" in the September Century:

The total population enumerated by the twelfth census was 76,393,387, but while the area of enumeration covered Alaska and Hawaii it did not include Porto Rico, the Philippines, Guam or Samoa. The population of these newly acquired islands has, however, been ascertained partly by estimates and partly by special censuses. Including these estimates, the total population of the United States and its out-lying possessions in 1900 was as follows:

Area of enumeration.....76,393,387

Philippine Islands.....6,961,329

Porto Rico.....493,243

Guam.....9,000

Samoa.....6,109

Total.....84,233,069

The only countries surpassing the United States in number of inhabitants are the Chinese Empire, the British Empire, the Russian Empire, and probably France, with the inclusion of its African possessions.

WILL MAKE A GOOD SHOWING.

Prohibition Candidates Say People Will be Surprised When Votes are Counted.

Those who were out Thursday evening to hear Col. T. B. Denmore and Hon. O. T. Wallace, Prohibition Candidates for Governor, and Lieutenant Governor, were treated to two good talks. Col. Denmore has long been known as one of Kentucky's greatest orators while Mr. Wallace, although he is a plain farmer, as he admits himself, is at the same time an earnest and sensible speaker. Both gentlemen spoke enthusiastically in interest of their candidacy and stated that, while they were not sure they would win, yet they could safely say that the people would be surprised when the votes were counted in November at the showing they had made.

Col. Denmore and Mr. Wallace were received by a number of ladies of the W. C. T. U. and spoke in the Oelze building, which was furnished free by Mr. Oelze.

Col. Denmore and Mr. Wallace spoke at Irvington Thursday afternoon, at Lewisport Friday afternoon and at Hawesville Friday evening.

Emergency Medicines.

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and one that is fast becoming a favorite is not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by Short & Haynes.

The mission boat Mequillo left Owensboro last Wednesday at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, and passed this city about 9 o'clock Thursday morning. It is the plan to return to Owensboro in October and remain two weeks. The failure of the boat to stop at Cloverport disappointed many people.

A heavy rain fell in this vicinity last Wednesday. A slight drought had begun and the rain came in season to give corn and tobacco a fresh start. MALICE OF A JILTED LOVER.

Lee Smallwood Shoots Girl's Brother and Causes Arrest of Her Parents.

THE OLDER KEIZEE IN JAIL.

William Horn and his wife, who live in the southern part of Breckenridge county, near the Hardin county line, were tried before Commissioner Kease at Owensboro last week on the charge of selling liquor without paying the special government tax. Horn was held over to the federal grand jury and the case against his wife was dismissed. Horn was then released on a $200 bond.

The evidence in the trial of Horn and his wife showed that the warrants against them were sworn out by Henry Lee Smallwood, of the Constantine neighborhood, who has given away a number of "shiners" during the past month. They claim that it is all "quite work" on the part of Smallwood. Smallwood, it seems, was jilted by Miss Surilda Horn, daughter of the prisoners, and they think malice has caused his action. Smallwood and his friend, Ora Barnes, swore that they had purchased liquor from Horn and Barnes testified that he had bought it from his wife. It is understood that Smallwood, himself, is now under indictment for shooting Miss Horn's brother from ambush, the shooting growing out of his rejection by the young lady. Smallwood formerly lived in the hills of Hardin county but is now located in Breckenridge county.

Ben Keizee, another denizen of the hills of Breckenridge and Hardin counties, was tried before Commissioner Lindsey last week on the charge for which Horn was held. He could not give bond and has been jailed in Louisville. He is the father of Bud Keizee, who was arrested, together with Ed Richardson and Lon McGuffin, for running an illicit still. Elmore Day, who was two and a half years ago, illegally sold liquor on Rough creek, was arrested at Springfield, Ill., and taken to Owensboro and placed in jail by Deputies Watts and Williams last week. The revenue officers are making it hot for all moonshiners and illegal liquor vendors who intend the hills of Breckenridge, Grayson, Ohio, and Hardin counties and it is hoped they will continue the good work until this section of the country is rid of every one of the law breakers.

What is Life?
In the last analysis nobody knows, but we know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in constipation, headache or liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. Its genuine, yet thorough. Only 25c at Short & Haynes' drug store.

SOME OLD-TIME RELICS.

Col. Edwin Forbes Writes That He Can Furnish Them for Our Centennial.

Fordville, Ky., Aug. 24, 1908.—Dear D. Babb, Jr., Publisher Breckenridge News, Cloverport, Ky.—Dear Sir: As my time was out with you August 19 I send you check for $1.00 for renewal of my subscription to the News.

If you hold your Cloverport Centennial, I think of doing so. I think I can furnish you with some old-time relics connected with the early days of Cloverport. These include some of the first hardware that was brought to the town by Col. D. R. Murray and the old sword of Gen. Basham that he used in drilling the early militia of Cloverport. The last time I heard of him using it was about the fall of 1859 when John Vest was elected captain of the Cloverport company. The sword is now owned by a grand-son of Gen. Basham and was given to him by the general. Besides the above mentioned I think we can hunt up several other relics which will aid you in your old-time celebration.

Truly yours,
Edwin Forbes.

OUTRAGE AT WEST POINT.

Office of the Beacon Wrecked
Printers Stoned and Arson Attempted.

REWARD OUT FOR MISCREANTS.

Thursday's West Point Beacon prints an account of the depredations which have been committed to the loss and inconvenience of the Beacon, its editor and employees.

About two weeks ago some miscreants "piled" a large quantity of type in the Beacon office. Last Friday night a week a letter was sent to the editor, Lindsey Morrison, and the new foreman, Mr. Dempsey, stating that the office would be destroyed and the editor and foreman killed unless the paper was suspended at once. The letters were received Saturday and the same afternoon a stone was thrown through a window of the office at Mr. Dempsey by an unknown party. Sunday night some more type was piled, an attempt was made to burn the office and another stone was thrown at Mr. Dempsey. A man was seen running from the office and a number of citizens and the office force gave chase but did not catch the offender or learn his identity.

Recent developments have led the management of the Beacon to believe that the depredations were committed by West Point parties and a reward of $50 has been offered for their apprehension.

The publishing of the Beacon has been honorably conducted by its proprietors and they have received expressions of sympathy from all good citizens who deplore this outrage on the peace of the town and the laws of the State and the United States.

MRS. CARRIE P. HANNAFORD.

New Life and Strength Came to Her.

A Massachusetts woman, Mrs. CARRIE P. HANNAFORD, of No. 69 Hale St., Beverly, Mass., who is well known socially there, being Treasurer of the Order of the EASTERN STAR, wrote her experience as follows: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' is, without a doubt, the finest remedy on the market today, for female difficulties. I suffered for four years with pains every period, and I dreaded the approach of the time as I knew it meant two or three days' misery. I tried several different widely-advertised remedies, and found that they did me no good whatever. One day a friend called, who had suffered as I was suffering, and who told me that she had been cured through the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, so I purchased a package. I found that the real value of your medicine was greater even than my expectations, and the next month I had hardly any pains. The following month had none at all, and found that my general health was much better and new life and strength had come to me.

"These are the actual facts, and I feel that it is due you that I should write you."

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. CARRIE P. HANNAFORD.

To Hon. R. V. Pierce, M. D.
Young women or matrons should not allow themselves to look sallow and wrinkled because of those pains and weaknesses which become chronic and are the result of colds, tight lacing, and imprudent care of the womanly system. Many a woman would look beautiful, have a healthy color and bright eyes if it were not for those drains on her strength and those weaknesses which come all too frequently and make her life miserable. There is a ready-to-use Prescription, using a great many years by Dr. R. V.

Pierce in his large practice as a Specialist in women's diseases, which is not like the many "patent medicines" on the market, as it contains neither alcohol nor any narcotic. It is purely vegetable.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It cures headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness and other consequences of womanly disease. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

$500 Reward FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any woman who can prove to the satisfaction of the proprietors that she has been cured of any of the above named diseases, or any other disease which she cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure. Their financial responsibility is well known to every newspaper publisher and druggist in the United States, with most of whom they have done business for over a third of a century. From this fact it will readily be seen how utterly foolhard it would be for them to make the above unprecedented and remarkable offer if they were not basing their offer on curative means having an unparalleled record. No other medicine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription could possibly "win out," as the saying goes, on such a proposition. But they know whereof they speak. They have the most remarkable record of cures made by this world-famed remedy ever placed to the credit of any preparation especially designed for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. This wonderful remedy, therefore, stands absolutely alone as the only one possessed of such remarkable curative properties as would warrant its makers in publishing such a marvelous offer as is above made in the utmost good faith.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION,
663 Main Street, BUFFALO, N. Y.

"I want to tell you of the great improvement in my health since taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" says Mrs. H. S. Jones, of Forest, N. C. "When I began its use I was a physical wreck and had despaired of ever having good health again. Could not sit up all day. I noted a great improvement before the first bottle was all used. Was suffering with almost every pain that a woman is subject to: had inflammation of ovaries and suppressed periods, and other symptoms of female disease. After taking six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' I felt like a new person. Can ride horseback and take all kinds of exercise and not feel tired."
